Hometown: Davenport, IA

I work part time at the Home Depot and part time at Heart of America offices working on hotels and restaurant chains for Michael Whalen.

I am planning on applying to the Domus Academy in Milan, Italy to receive a masters degree in urban vision and architectural design.

When not in Chicago, I live at home in Iowa with my father, Michael, who just recently retired from John Deere, my mother, Danielle, who teaches Physics of Pleasant Valley High School, and my younger sister Claire, who is a freshmen pre-med at the University of Iowa.

My hobbies include painting and drawing, reading, and learning Italian.
